

INTERNET RESOURCES

ARTiculation: Art analysis website including Elements of design, Principles of design, Reading the Credit Line, and Art Critique Operations.

<http://www.brigantine.atlnet.org/GigapaletteGALLERY/websites/ARTiculationFinal/MainPages/Reviews%20and%20Resourcesmain.htm>

ARTSnet Minnesota- many connections for the educator from Minneapolis Institute of Art and Walker Art Center, and also student activities

<http://www.artsconnected.org/artsnetmn/theme.html>

Activities online are at

<http://www.artsconnected.org/artsnetmn/resource.html>

Teen online activities at Museum of Modern Art

<http://redstudio.moma.org/>

Artcyclopedia

<http://www.artcyclopedia.com/>

Look here to find links to all kinds of art and many artists. Some of the links are commercial (poster sales), but there are many links to museum websites which have works by the artist you choose.

You can view art and enlarge it with this Artcyclopedia link:

<http://www.artcyclopedia.com/masterscans/index.html>

Women artists from many time periods can be found at this link:

<http://www.artcyclopedia.com/artists/women.html>

Click on a time period. The more famous artists have one of their works pictured by their names. Click on a name and get more information and links to works in museums the world over.

Also choose art styles to browse in or enter an artist's name in the search engine.

A fun list to check out in Artcyclopedia is the Top 30 artists (the 30 most often searched in the last month). Pictures included.

<http://www.artcyclopedia.com/mostpopular.html>

Other websites:

The National Gallery of Art (Washington, DC)

<http://www.nga.gov/search/index.shtm>

Search the collection (check Images only) for a specific artist or browse

The Egyptian Museum in Cairo has an excellent web collection at:

<http://www.egyptianmuseum.gov.eg/>

Other museums around the world can be located at this site:

<http://www.artcyclopedia.com/museums.html>

Some have online collections and others don't, but it is easy to museum-hop from this site.

WebMuseum Paris- Great site to explore art from different times and places, easy to navigate, has all the information you need if you find your artist in their collection.

<http://www.ibiblio.org/wm/paint/>

Art History on the Web- General Art history site with links to different places and times.

<http://witcombe.sbc.edu/ARTHLinks.html>

Once you have chosen an artist, use Google or another search engine to find information on the artist.

PRINT OUT ALL WEBSITE MATERIAL USED FOR YOUR WORK, INCLUDING url (ADDRESS) AND TURN IT IN WITH YOUR BACKGROUND INFORMATION. YOUR WORK SHOULD HAVE ONLY WRITING IN YOUR OWN WORDS.

WEBSITES FOR REFERENCE AND ENJOYMENT

Web Gallery of Art <http://www.wga.hu/>

ArtCyclopedia <http://www.artcyclopedia.com/>